

The Telepsychiatrist Newsletter

Hello!

Thank you so much for subscribing. I hope you'll find some of this background information interesting.

Episode 10 will be airing today, at approximately...now! In this episode, I interview a patient of mine, Carrie, and her husband, Tom.

During the interview, we discuss Catatonia. Catatonia is something everyone should know about because it is difficult to diagnose and can be difficult to treat. Most importantly, it can happen to anyone experiencing a mental health problem, or it could be a result of a medical problem.

By the end of the podcast, I hope you will be able to know the main signs/symptoms so that you can identify the disorder if it happens to you, or someone you love.

I often get asked, where can I find a therapist. I thought I would take this opportunity to show you a great resource for therapists.
