

The Telepsychiatrist Newsletter

Hello!

Thank you so much for subscribing. I hope you'll find some of this background information interesting.

Episode 11 will be airing today, at approximately...now! In this episode, I interview the Wise Women of a mycology company called Mycology Psychology.

Their psychedelic renaissance is upon us. And, as is often the case, legally we are not caught up to the research and benefits of the medicine. So by no means is this episode, or am I, telling you to do mushrooms, but rather it is answering the question, What's all the hype about mushrooms about?

During the interview, we discuss what it means to microdose, and everything you could imagine about microdosing. And a cool little fact, one of the Wise Women is actually a longtime friend of mine from
